

Young Heritage Ambassador Project: Costume Review

Culture Perth & Kinross is offering an exciting project for a small group of 15-18 year olds this summer! The project offers the opportunity to work with the costume collection at Perth Museum and Art Gallery while building skills in object handling, packing and moving, research and communication. Read on for full details.

When will the project run?

3 July – 11 August 2017 every Thursday, 10-1am

Who is the project aimed at?

Young people age 15-18 who live in Perth and Kinross

What will participants be doing?

You will be working in a small group with the curatorial team to help review and research the costume collection at Perth Museum & Art Gallery. This will involve learning how to safely handle and move the collection and dress mannequins, researching items in the collection as well as the history of fashion and clothes making in Perth, speaking to the public about the project and posting project updates on social media forums. Participants will have the opportunity to curate a small display at the Museum based on what they have discovered during the project. The display will run from 12 September 2017 to January 2018.

Week 1 (6 July): Training in moving, handling and packing costume

Week 2 (13 July): Costume review (moving, handling, packing, photographing, talking to public)

Week 3 (20 July): Research local shops/brands/clothes makers at AK Bell with Local History Librarian

Week 4 (27 July): Costume review

Week 5 (3 Aug): Costume review

Week 6 (10 Aug): Display planning
