

Apprentice Quantity Surveyor

Breedon Aggregates, Newburgh

Job description

We require an enthusiastic, motivated and dedicated Apprentice Quantity Surveyor to join our busy surfacing/contracting division. You will be willing to work in a fast-paced environment and should be computer literate, with particular emphasis on Microsoft Excel, Word & Outlook.

The role involves providing support to our operational teams on all matters relating to Contract and Commercial issues whilst maintaining the flow of information between the site and office and undertaking the measurement and valuation of works completed with submission to our client within the agreed timescales.

During the apprenticeship programme, you will undertake appropriate theoretical and practical training to develop the knowledge, skills and experience required, to achieve the appropriate qualification and assist in the provision of Quantity Surveying within the section.

The Modern Apprenticeship Scheme funding for training is available for candidates aged 16 to 19. Please ensure, if you are applying for this post, that you are between the ages of 16 to 19. You will be asked to bring proof of age with you if you are invited to an interview.

We offer competitive terms and benefits associated with being an employer of choice, including pension and share save options.
